How much does a Honda inverter cost in Canada?

This is the largest inverter Honda offers and it currently costs $5,328 in Canada the last time I checked. The 11,000-watt tri-fuel Champion (9000 watts continuous output) costs $3,327. That's 37 cents per watt of output, compared with 97 cents per watt for the Honda.

Should you buy a big inverter generator?

If you value efficiency, quiet operation, portability and whole-house backup power protection, today's big inverter generators are a pretty attractive option. Steve Maxwell kind of likes it when the power goes off because it means he can fire up his generator again.

What is an inverter generator?

Activate your Online Access Now Inverter-generators are engine-driven, fuel-burning sources of off-grid electricity, but they're different from conventional portable generators in three important ways. They burn less fuel, they make less noise, and the electricity they produce is of higher quality.
